Home Flashes and Sparks From Abroad.

Election Day

—Next Tuesday!

—Go to the polls and vote.

—Take your part in the matter of local government.

—Since local government depends upon the people the duty of the people is plain.

—Don't shirk that duty.

—And don't vote for a candidate if you think he is really not fitted to discharge the duties of the office he is after.

—Did you receive a valentine yesterday? Was it a pretty one, or one of the other kind?

—A little sleighing after all.

—Score another for the ground-hog.

The poem from our Oaks contributor will be published in a week or two.

—The price of Berke county wheat reached the lowest figure on record last week, when it sold at 55 cents per bushel.

—The Transcript reports rich copper deposits on the Henry D. Kulp farm, near Skippack, and the presence of iron ore on another farm, near Kulpsville.

—Deacon. "And what must all little boys do before they can go to heaven?" Johnny (innocently) "Die"

—M. P. Anderson will sell at Gross' hotel, this place, about the first of March, a lot of Kentucky horses, including a number of extra fast ones. Particulars next week.

—The big barn on the farm of Levi Lamborn, near Kennet Square, Chester county, was entirely destroyed by fire Sunday night. Loss, about $2,000; half covered by insurance.

—Ethel. "He hardly knows me yet and he has proposed. Don't you think it strange?"

Clarissa. "No. I don't see anything strange in his proposing if he hardly knows you."

—Eggs are down to ten cents a dozen at Blain, Perry county.

—We expect to be able to publish next week the names of those who have sent in a correct solution to the cellar question published last week.

—It is said that Frank Nasta, of Yatesville, who married Annie Supar, at Scranton, paid the girl's father $600 before he consented to the tying of the nuptial knot.

—The Pennsylvania Railroad Company, on its various locomotives that run between Jersey City and Pittsburgh burns over 12,000 a day at a cost of $40,000 each day.

—The first horse was brought to this country in 1518. Now there are in the United States 14,056,750 horses, with an estimated value of $941,000,000.

—Slater C. Youm, a sonabulist, 52 years old, fell down the steps at his residence in Reading, Monday morning and was killed.

—Four more cows belonging to William Pennell, West Grove, Chester county, were killed Monday by the State authorities. The animals were affected with tuberculosis and this makes ten of his cows that have been killed within a week.

WEDDED.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Hold by J. W. Culbert, Druggist, Collegeville, Pa. 75 cents.

THREE SUDDEN DEATHS.

Three sudden deaths occurred at Pottstown within 24 hours last week. Mary Becker, in her 74th year, ate a hearty supper Thursday evening. At 11 o'clock she was found unconscious from apoplexy and died in half an hour. Joseph Warmkesel, in his 84th year, was found dead in bed Friday. He was troubled with heart disease. Living H. Pegley, widow of the County Treasurer, Isaac Pegley, had two strokes of paralysis Thursday and died Friday. She built, soon after her husband's death, St. James' Lutheran Chapel at a tributary to the State and was endowed a scholarship at Muhlenberg College, of which she was a trustee.

RETAINED HIS PRESENCE OF MIND.

Charles Woodington, aged 23 years, a brakeman on a Reading freight train, had a narrow escape from death Monday afternoon. He fell off a train in motion on the Norris town Railroad near Manayunk, and landed between the tracks, but with great presence of mind he caught hold of a brake rod and was dragged for some distance before the train was stopped. While being dragged his right foot was run over and one of his toes badly crushed, but Woodington retained his presence of mind through the ordeal and kept his hold until the train was stopped. He was taken to St. Timothy's Hospital.

PERSONALS.

Mrs. Henry Prizer, of School street, is at present visiting relatives in Sunbury.

F. G. Hobson Esq., left Monday morning for a trip to Western Pennsylvania on State Camp P. O. S. of A.

A BOY CRUSHED TO DEATH.

Coroner Kurtz went to Gulf Mills Sunday afternoon and held an inquest on the body of Leon Mulkin, aged ten years, who was killed on Saturday afternoon by a portion of the wall of the ruins of the old Balmoral Mill, on the Bullock estate, falling upon him. The mill was destroyed by fire on Christmas eve twenty-three years ago, and the ruins, including the second story, were left standing. The brick smoke stack fell in a crash several years since, and the walls have remained in a threatening, tumble-down condition ever since the fire. On Saturday afternoon, about half-past one o'clock, a number of boys were playing about the crumbling walls. Young Mulkin was ascending another, pulling himself up by the aid of a grapevine which clung to the wall. Without a second's warning a large portion of the wall fell, crushing the boy beneath the smoke stack full of a crash several years since, and the walls have remained in a threatening, tumble-down condition ever since the fire. On Saturday afternoon, about half-past one o'clock, a number of boys were playing about the crumbling walls. Young Mulkin was ascending another, pulling himself up by the aid of a grapevine which clung to the wall. Without a second's warning a large portion of the wall fell, crushing the boy beneath the smoke stack full of a crash several years since, and the walls have remained in a threatening, tumble-down condition ever since the fire. GEESSE AND DUCKS.

There are two advantages with these two classes of poultry over chickens and turkeys—they are less liable to disease and are less trouble to look after. After the geese and ducks get reasonably well feathered they can be turned out into a good pasture, and if there is plenty of water they will need very little attention, at least until cold weather. It takes a good breed of layers for a hen to lay more eggs than a good Pekin duck, and if well sheltered and fed they will commence laying the later part of January and will lay all the rest of the winter and the early spring, and will usually take a second spell the latter part of the summer. To make the most of both ducks and geese it is necessary to pick their feathers regularly, commencing as soon as they are getting laying in the spring. The feathers should be picked regularly all the summer until reasonably cold weather in the fall. A sufficient amount of feathers can readily be secured to pay for their keep, so that the eggs and increase may be considered as profit.
With geese, especially after the number it is desired to keep is secured nearly or quite all the younger fowls are marketed as soon as they have made a sufficient growth, as the old fowls may be kept a number of years without change, and will give fully as good if not better results than the younger ones. Ducks can hardly be kept so long, but should be sold when five years old at least. This gives in both cases the young fowls to market, and they will sell better and can be made ready for market at a less cost than the older or more matured ones. With ducks, until the desired number is secured, it is a good plan to sell the early hatched and keep the later.
But it is best to keep good stock in making a start, and it will cost but little more to secure good fowls. The Pekin is one of the best breed of ducks, while the Embden is one of the best breeds of geese. One advantage of both of them is that the feathers are white and will sell to better advantage. The Toulouse geese are a good breed, but the feathers are dark colored. The Aylesbury is a good breed of ducks, but are not quite as large as the Pekin. Geese will come nearer living on pasture and taking care of themselves than any other class of poultry.
Too much grain is rather a detriment than a benefit, and should only be given heavily when fattening for market. Bulky food is much more desirable and will give much better results in every way during growth. During the winter the need of shelter, and during what may be termed the laying season it is best to pen at night in order to make sure of the egg, but otherwise the better plan is to give them a good range in a pasture well supplied with water.—Colman's Rural World.

WHY FOR CALVES.
In all these factory districts the raising of calves is one of the most difficult problems that the patrons have to deal with. Whey-fed calves are, as a rule, pot-bellied, scurvy-skinned and stunted.
Calves that are to grow up and become dairy cows should not be kept in a beefy condition; yet they must be made to thrive and develop, says the Atlanta Farmer. Whey, in the best condition, only forms a partial food; but whey that has become sour is of no value whatever, as the sugar is the only food ingredient it contains.
Calves carefully fed on sweet whey with some adjuncts, such as flaxseed gruel, oil cake and a little chopped oats, may be made to thrive and do well. The whey must, however, be in a sweet condition, and it might be mentioned that if whey is heated to a temperature of 160 degrees F. fermentation will cease.
Whey feeding must be done judiciously, and when the calf is taken from the cow the change from whole milk to whey must be made gradually. As soon as you commence to feed any skim-milk, a little flaxseed gruel or oil cake should be added, and quantity of this increased as the quantity of milk decreases.
Always heat the feed, whether it be milk, whey or a mixture to blood heat before feeding. The milk may be lessened and the whey increased in quantity until the calf is a month and a half old, when the milk may be discontinued almost altogether. As soon as they can be got to take it, calves should have all that they will eat of chopped oats.
Under such conditions they will come along and thrive well. However, the feeding must be done with the greatest regularity as to the time, the quantity of feed, its temperature and condition. Calves should also always be supplied with all other comforts, such as dry, clean quarters a supply of fresh, green feed or pasture, and have access to salt and nice fresh water.
Thus, by some additional attention and supplying an equivalent for the casein and butter fat that has been taken from the milk, the patrons of cheese factories may be able to rear calves that will have a creditable appearance, and that are neither stunted scurvy-skinned nor pot-bellied.—New York World.

FOUNDATIONS OF PROFITABLE DAIRYING.
The foundations of profitable dairying consist of good cows that are liberally fed and milked with exact regularity, and an intelligent and observant owner. With these essentials present the details of the business are soon acquired, and the degree of prosperity is measured by the attention given to the work and the ability manifested in its execution. Dairying is a calling that requires the eye of the owner to be watchful and his mind to be thoughtful. He must be quick to detect and prompt to investigate and correct every unusual occurrence that militates against the comfort and well being of his herd. Such a man is always abreast of the knowledge of the times because he is a student, not only of his specialty, but of all the various things that interest mankind. It is only by utilizing all forms of knowledge that the development of specialties is possible, and the wider the degree of knowledge the specialist possesses the greater his success. Dairying is a specialty and the wiser the dairyman is the better his dairy. All his knowledge crystallizes there to his personal advantage and the benefit of the consumers of his product.—American Dairyman.

THE JONES
LOCKED WIRE FENCE
With Stock Proof Lock.
Neat, Strong, Durable and Cheap!
This Fence is the only one for farm purposes; it includes the exclusive clamp and in existence; expansion and contraction under complete control of the lock; it requires but few posts; having strength, without much surface, it is not affected by severe winds or snow storms; it will save ten feet in width of the ground now occupied by rail fence—this will save four acres of ground on every hundred acres now fenced with rails. Upon careful examination every farmer will want it. We will wire up this fence for from 40 to 50 cents per rod. Address or call on the undersigned for descriptive circulars and further information.

STEAM -:- HEATING!

The Superiority of STEAM in comparison with the OLD METHODS OF HEATING cannot be questioned, for twice as much heat can be obtained from the same amount of fuel than can be had from the old way of stove heating. Then another very important consideration is that all the dust and dirt, incident to burning coal, can be confined to a portion of the cellar instead of floating about all the rooms in the house. Steam Heating has come to stay. Do you wish to secure its advantages?
If you do, you are heading directly towards our line of business, and we want your order. We can supply you with just what you want, guarantee you satisfaction, and give you full worth of your money. We have placed a number of Steam Heaters and in every instance our work has proved satisfactory. Call on or address

THE INDEPENDENT is not an encyclopedia of the darker doings of humanity; it is not a reportorial conglomeration of more or less trifling transactions gathered from all sections of the globe; it does not undertake to embrace the cant and rot and sophistries of some of the journalism current; it does not essay to make people believe that the welfare of this country perforce depends upon the permanent success of a particular political party, or upon any set of interested politicians; it believes that political parties, like some of the men who constitute portions thereof, are not always what they seem to be; it believes that honest criticism applied where needed, regardless of mere partisan notions, is always productive of GOOD RESULTS. Our mission in brief is: To publish a clean, readable local and general newspaper, avoiding as much as possible dry details and stuff "just to fill up with," to cultivate independent thought, and to tell the truth for the sake of the truth, as near as we can get at it; to interest and entertain our readers, and to do our humble mite in assisting in the work of bettering human conditions. If you are in sympathy with such purposes, and you are not yet a subscriber to the INDEPENDENT, subscribe now. Don't postpone doing a good thing. If you are a subscriber, try and get your neighbor interested also.

If you have anything to sell and want to sell it, and if you want your neighbors and the public generally to know that you have something to sell, and want to sell it—no matter what it is—ADVERTISE in the INDEPENDENT, the best advertising medium in the middle section of Montgomery county. It is read by at least 3500 people every week, and its circulation is steadily increasing.
Our facilities for executing JOB PRINTING are such as to enable us to do first-class work promptly and at reasonable prices. Favor us with your orders and we will do our best to serve you well.
